

Britain Charges Russia Got Spy Secrets

Allied Defense Involved

LONDON (UPI) — Britain charged at the start of its most sensational espionage trial in a decade today that a five-member spy ring stole key allied naval secrets and sent them to Moscow by short wave radio.

The disclosure stirred fears that Russia now knows full details of how the United States and NATO plan to defend themselves against the Soviet Union's fleet of 500 submarines.

ATTY. GEN. SIR Reginald Manningham-Buller never mentioned Russia specifically during his two-hour opening statement in Bow Street Criminal Court. But he said a British member of the spy ring was recruited for his espionage work by a Russian posing as a U. S. naval officer, and he left no doubt that the "foreign power" involved was the Soviet Union.

Manningham-Buller said that Henry Houghton, 55, a Briton who had served 20 years in the Royal Navy, told police he got into the espionage business through a ruse.

THE ATTORNEY general said Houghton, a civilian clerk at the naval research station at Portland Navy Yard, first agreed to pass on top secret information at the request of someone who identified himself as "Commander Alexander Johnson, U. S. Navy."

Manningham-Buller said "Johnson" actually was "Gordon Lonsdale," one of the three men and two women charged with passing the top secret information to the "foreign power."

THE ATTORNEY general said an extremely powerful radio set was found in the house of two of the defendants, Peter and Helen Kroger, who pretended to be book-sellers. He said they sent their information to Moscow by radio and micro-dot code hidden in the pages of books.

Manningham-Buller said that while the Krogers purporting to carry on business as book-sellers, they actually were spies.

Nora E. Bower Services to Be Held Wednesday

Funeral services for Nora Elizabeth Bower, 89, 1033 Calle de Maria, will be conducted at 9 a. m., Wednesday, from St. Theresa's Catholic Church, with the Rev. R. M. O'Donohue officiating. Rosary will be recited at 7 p. m., tonight, from Wiefels and Son chapel.

Interment will be in Desert Memorial Park, with Wiefels and Son mortuary in charge.

Mrs. Bower died at 11:55 p. m., Saturday, following a lengthy illness.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Frank C. Florine and Mrs. Laurence C. Butler, both of Palm Springs, and Mrs. Herbert L. Buckley of Lakewood, Ohio.

KENNEDY ASKS CONGRESS TO HIKE MINIMUM WAGE TO $1.25 AN HOUR

PROCLAMATION OF BOY Scout Week is made by mayor Frank Bogert as he issues the proclamation to Palm Springs district Scout commissioner J. M. McFadden, right. Week will be observed today through Monday, with city and Scout sponsoring organizations participating in 51st anniversary activities. (Desert Sun Photo)

SPECIAL EVENTS TO HONOR SCOUTS

Approximately 400 boys in 16 units in Palm Springs, Desert Hot Springs and Cathedral City will join in celebration of the 51st anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America, during Boy Scout Week, today through Monday.

Palm Springs mayor Frank Bogert has proclaimed Boy Scout Week in Palm Springs to highlight the event. Bogert stated that "this organization over the years has, while training our youth, contributed extensively to the development of Palm Springs." Organizations sponsoring Scout units also will observe the week in salute to Scouting.

BOY SCOUT WORK in the Palm

Bulletin Issued On Man Missing Since Jan. 30

Riverside County Sheriff's office and Palm Springs Police Department have issued an all-points bulletin for Walt Pagan, Desert Hot Springs electrician who has been missing since Jan. 30.

Pagan is 45, stands 5-feet, 11-inches and weighs about 160. He has brown hair, blue eyes and was wearing a mustache when last seen. He was attired in a sport shirt and slacks at the time of his disappearance.

73 Attend Chest Fund Drive Meet

Joint Program Mapped with Service Clubs

A total of 73 representatives of service clubs, agencies which receive funds from the Community Chest here and members of the 1961 Community Chest board planning a $98,000 fund-raising campaign here, met in the city council chambers last night to map out a joint program with service organizations.

The Rev. Fredrick Barnhill, pastor of St. Paul's in the Desert Episcopal church, moderator of the meeting, called for the groups to "wed together in a great effort." The Community Chest is the "index of the health of a community," Rev. Barnhill emphasized.

CHEST BOARD member James Crowe called for a four-point participation by clubs within Palm Springs. Sought and endorsed by representatives last night were:

- Donations from club treasury.
- Raising of personal pledges from club memberships.
- Stage some fund drive for Community Chest.
- Offer volunteers if individual solicitations are made by the Community Chest.

CROWE and Community Chest president Hardin Hart had indicated that approximately half the $98,000 sought could be raised from letters, but the "other half" will have to be done the hard way. Crowe added personal solicitations are expected.

Police chief Gus Kettmann praised the work for youth and the underprivileged in Palm Springs done in earlier years, explained the city had to "live up to these sound foundations." Palm Springs' good juvenile delinquency record has proved the validity of the extensive work with youth groups here, Kettmann asserted.

FORMER PRESIDENT Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife, Mamie, wave from the rear of the train as they pause briefly in Chicago en route to Eldorado Country Club for a two months stay. They will arrive on the Super Chief tomorrow morning at 5:55 a. m. in San Bernardino, where their cars will be put on a siding. Following a leisurely breakfast they will travel to the desert by car, and are expected to arrive at Eldorado about noon. (UPI Telephoto)

Palm Desert Plans Welcome For Ike, Mamie

PALM DESERT — "Welcome Home Ike" banners will be unfurled in this community tomorrow to welcome former President and Mrs. Eisenhower when they arrive for a vacation around midday.

Don McNeilly, Chamber of Commerce manager, said that one banner will be placed at the west entrance of the community on Highway 111, while another will be located within the entrance of Eldorado Country Club.

The Eisenhowers have leased the Allen Poulson residence in Eldorado for their planned two month long vacation.

FINE TOTAL HITS $2 MILLION TODAY

PHILADELPHIA — Federal Judge J. Cullen Ganev wound up one of the nation's largest anti-trust cases today after leveling nearly $2 million in fines against individuals and firms in the heavy electrical industry for fixing prices and submitting rigged bids.

Ganev ordered 30-day jail sentences for seven of the 48 individuals and levied stiff fines against the 32 companies representing virtually every major electrical equipment manufacturer in the country.

GANEV SAID the case was a "shocking" indictment of the American system of free enterprise.

Judith King Rites Conducted Today

Funeral services for Mrs. Judith Lucille King, who died at her home at 42-078 Rio Del Sol Road, Rancho Mirage, last Friday, were Paul's in the Desert Episcopal Church here, with the Rev. Fredrick A. Barnhill, pastor, officiating.

Mrs. King, a native of Nebraska, had lived in Rancho Mirage 11 years, and in California 20 years. She is survived here by her husband, Herschel C. King, a son, Stephen Bruce King, 14, and two daughters, Mary Diane, 10, and Patricia Kay, 2 years of age.

A six-page photo essay on the good life in Palm Springs is featured in the February issue of Fortune Magazine, now available on newsstands.

In color, the photo feature is a carefully-detailed examination of various phases of Palm Springs life as captured on film by Robert Doisneau, a French photographer assigned to the chore by Fortune.

Extended Coverage Planned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy asked Congress today to raise the minimum wage to $1.25 an hour and broaden its coverage to prevent "the growth of an underprivileged and underpaid class."

Kennedy's proposal would boost the minimum from the present $1 for employees covered by the federal law and extend coverage to an additional 4.3 million workers.

THE PRESIDENT submitted the draft of a bill along with letters to Speaker Sam Rayburn and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, president of the Senate, appealing for action.

Kennedy said the proposed changes would be carried out "by a series of annual adjustments which have been carefully set at levels to which employers can readily adjust."

"OUR NATION can ill afford to tolerate the growth of an underprivileged and underpaid class," Kennedy said. "Substandard wages lead necessarily to substandard living conditions, hardship and distress."

"Since the last increase in the minimum wage, both living costs and productivity have increased to such an extent that the proposed bill merely reflects an adjustment to keep pace with these factors." The President's minimum wage message also included a letter from Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg detailing the proposed changes.

GOLDBERG EXPLAINED that the administration bill would raise the hourly minimum for employees now covered from $1 to $1.15 the first year, $1.20 the second year and then to $1.25.

Stone Condition Reported 'Good'

Joel E. Stone, 68-year-old president of the Chamber of Commerce here, and a member of the Palm Springs city planning commission for approximately six months, is in Desert Hospital "recovering from a circulatory condition," a hospital spokesman announced.

The hospital reported Stone was admitted Saturday, termed his condition "stabilized" and "good," but added that he is not permitted visitors.

COUNCIL INVESTIGATION

City Boundaries Studied at PD

PALM DESERT — Suggested boundaries for Palm Desert in the event of incorporation of the community were discussed last night by members of the Community Coordinating Council of Palm Desert in a meeting at Palm Desert School.

Spokesmen for the group, which consists of one delegate and an alternate from all Palm Desert civic groups, emphasized that "their proposals at this time are merely matters for study."

Submitted for study as possible boundary lines was the proposal that the north boundary would be the Whitewater river channel; south, the base of the hills south of Silver Spur; west, Highway 74, branching off to the flood control channel and on the east by Cook Road.

Ben Arnold is chairman of the Boundary Committee, which includes as members Walter Stearns, John Moon and R. K. Hanson.

It was announced by Roy F. St. Leon, chairman of the study group that meetings in the future will be closed to the press, but that publicity releases concerning the group's activities will be circulated.

A Visit with Our Mexicali Friends

By RAFAELA MARMOLEJO V.

A pagar las consecuencias (to pay the consequences) . . . Here I am in Mexicali. Baja Calif. for una semana (a well — there is very little I can say de sus amigos (of your friends) but shall we say a little about our friends across the border?

Every once in a while se enfrenta (you meet very light complected people and you speak to them in English but, "no se lo que me dice" (don't know what you are saying) well we keep going . . . of course we are heading para el mercado (for the market) . . . we hear Buenos Dias (good morning) every once in a while, yes, the Mexican people will greet you this way — cada que se encuentran (every time they meet) . . . well we keep going . . . y al fin (and finally) we arrive at the mercado (market).

My, my, how colorful . . . sarap-

There are perfumes, lotions, talcum powder, purses, flowers plastic, or paper just plain or wreaths, then — we keep moving, llegamos a las joyas (to the jewelry department) here we can spend all day . . . looking naturally . . . sterling silver, or gold rings, pins, bracelets earrings de filigreed or solid.

Now shall we see what kind of food they have? mole pipian, caldos, chile relleno, albondigas, enchiladas, tacos, tostadas.

SAMUEL KAMINKER

Kaminker to Be 'Temple Night' Speaker Here

Samuel Kaminker, director of education for the Union of Hebrew Congregations on the West Coast and registrar for the Los Angeles College of Jewish Studies, will be guest speaker at a "Temple Night" evening of education at 8:15 p.m., Wednesday, at the Jewish Community Center.

Sponsored jointly by the Religious School Committee and the Brotherhood of Temple Isaiah, this will be the first in a series of open meetings which will present speakers of note.

Before accepting his present post, Kaminker was Supervisor of Schools, Los Angeles Bureau of Jewish Education, and director of District No. 4 of the B'nai B'rith Youth Organization. He is a graduate of the University of Chicago and the College of Jewish Studies in Chicago.

One of the founders and directors of the only Jewish high school boys' camp, AVPDAL, which was jointly sponsored by the Board of Jewish Education, Chicago, and the Council of B'nai B'rith Lodges, he has, for the past two years, been director of Camp Saratoga, a project of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations.

The gathering on Wednesday evening is open to all who are interested and refreshments will be served.

Senior Citizens To Hear Airport Bond Details

A short meeting will precede the social program of games, music and a motion picture when the Palm Springs Senior Citizens hold their regular meeting at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, in the Pavilion at Ramon Road and Sunrise Way.

In addition, a guest speaker will outline the Palm Springs Airport bond program for the Fun After Forty group, according to Senior Citizen President Rum M. Erickson.

Howard Haddock, of the City Recreation Department, will inform the members of all day outings available in the area. Refreshments are scheduled.

Ramon Men Sets Activities

Ramon Mens' Club entertainment chairman Frank Cullen has announced a full season program of entertainment and activities ranging from exercise classes to Spanish instruction.

Posted in the clubhouse are activities for each day of the week, including bike hikes, choral groups, dancing, card parties, and shuffleboard games. Added to the agenda are activities of the new Ramon Park Womens' Club, headed by Edith Lavagette.

OF CANCER FUND DRIVE

Gargans to Be Co-Chairmen

Bill Gargan, long established radio, TV and stage personality, and his wife, Mary, Palm Springs homeowners since the thirties, will serve as honorary "Cancer Crusade" co-chairmen in the Desert area this spring, according to an announcement today by William H. Elliott, M.D., chairman of the Palm Springs unit, Riverside County Branch, American Cancer Society.

Dates for the Society's traditional fundraising drive have been set for March 15 through April 22, Dr. Elliott stated. Goal for the Palm Springs unit has been set for $10,500.

GARGAN, STRICKEN with throat cancer last fall, underwent surgery in November which involved removal of his larynx and loss of speech. Hit by the disease at a peak in his stage career, Gargan is convalescing "beautifully and rapidly responding to his speech therapy," according to his wife.

"We are planning to be in the desert in a few days," Mrs. Gargan stated, "and Bill is eager to do everything he can to help make the Cancer Crusade the biggest we've ever had in Palm Springs."

FUND RAISING activities during the cancer drive include a week of "Dedicated Dollars Days," commencing March 20, slated for residential solicitation under the direction of Mrs. Harold Hicks, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Lorraine Hills and Rabbi Joseph Hurwitz.

A "Cancer Crusade Caravan," carrying coin containers for distribution to local businesses is also included in the campaign agenda, according to Dr. Elliott. He stated that Henry Cleary and Mrs. Stanley Rosin have consented to serve as Memorials committee co-chairmen; Mrs. Milton Portis and Mrs. Paul Summers, as advance gifts co-chairmen.

Eastern Cold Drives People to Desert Living

That terrible eastern weather drove at least two Sandpiper owners to an early desert retreat last week with both Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Henry of Big Rapids, Mich., and Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Hudson from Cleveland, Ohio, on hand to enjoy the perfect weather and Sandpiper activities.

Dr. Hudson was in Cleveland to establish a new branch of his Hudson Oxygen Therapy Sales Company there. His son, Allen, is in charge. The young Mr. Hudson and his wife were at Sandpiper a month ago for their honeymoon. This week, during the Golf Classic, the Hudsons will entertain Mr. and Mrs. William Smith of Gledora, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Pitman from San Marino and Mr. and Mrs. Stedman Shaw from Portland, Ore.

Also from out-of-state and enjoying the "classic weather" are Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Vaughan of Bethel, Conn. Mr. Vaughn is past chairman of the board with Curtis Wright Aviation and although the Vaughns have visited the desert many times on business the stay this month at the Hastings Garland apartment is their first real desert vacation.

In the Merrill Butler apartment over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bergstrom of Newport Beach. Mr. Bergstrom is in the lumber business in Tustin.

The Robert Lintz apartment played host to other Orange countians, Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Bray and Dr. and Mrs. Richard Thompson of South Laguna.

In the Frank Harrington apartment this week were guests Mrs. Richard Swank from Newport Beach, Mrs. Arthur Lemke from Orange, Mrs. Robert Lovell from Balboa and Mrs. Harold Schuth from Fullerton.

It was "old home" week for the ladies who attended grammar school together and started their bridge games in high school days. Bridge and swimming occupied the reunion's most informal agenda.

Just returning from Hawaii where they had an enjoyable stay, are Mr. and Mrs. William Pitts.

Mrs. Pitts is Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scott's daughter, Margo.

Along with the Sandpiper fashion show last Sunday that gave owners a view at the very latest in international fashions, the Sandpiper ladies had their weekly bridge get-together.

Hostess was Mrs. Calypso Liddell with three tables of Sandpiper ladies and their guests. On hand were Mrs. William Seiter, Mrs. Edmund Barnes, Mrs. Amos Bomberger, Mrs. Dewey Yates, Mrs. Beatrice Durfee, Mrs. Robert Powers, Mrs. Kirk Steinert, Mrs. Ruby Guest, Mrs. Dorothy Root, Mrs. Jack Pollard and Mrs. Vaughn Edgar. Mrs. Durfee had as her guest Mr. John Huarisa.

Four Graduate From Red Cross 'Caring' Course

Four students of the first American Red Cross class in "Caring for the Sick and Injured" were graduated at the home of Mrs. Lydia Kison in Palm Springs.

The course was taught by Mrs. Lucille Preis, R.N.

Receiving certificates and pins were Mrs. Mae Johnson, Mrs. Alice Kessel, Mrs. Lydia Kison and Mrs. Jesse Deering.

Lt Ted Green, Palm Springs Police Department, speaker at the graduation, told of the responsibilities of trained people to volunteer their services in Civil Defense work.

The class began its studies in Hogarth Hall, St. Paul's in the Desert Church, later transferring to the home of Mrs. Kison. The course consisted of seven lessons, of two hours each.

Another group is now forming and will be limited to 12 persons. Those interested should call the local Red Cross office between 9 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. daily at 324-4818.

Smith, Cooper To Attend State League Meet

William H. Smith, president, and Arthur L. Cooper, executive vice president, Coachella Valley Savings, will attend the annual Management Conference of the California Savings and Loan League to be held at El Mirador Hotel Feb. 13-15.

"Creative and Imaginative Thinking" has been selected as the theme of the conference, according to Neill Davis, executive vice-president of the state-wide trade organization.

Experts in the fields of management, lending and housing, personnel, and business promotion are slated to address the management meeting, which will attract over 600 delegates from throughout California. Presiding over the conference will be league president Oliver M. Chatburn of Los Angeles.

NEW LIBRARY, MUSIC ROOM AT CIELO VISTA

Nearing completion at Cielo Vista school is a new library, music and audio-visual room, Principal Warren Danielson announced today.

Removal of Agua Caliente students and teachers to their new school made available the space necessary for the new facility, Danielson reported.

The new library is a large room equipped with study chairs and tables so that pupils will have adequate facilities for research and library study.

The new library also houses a book exhibit of volumes for children through the ninth grade.

The exhibit, which ends Feb. 10, is open from 1 to 4 p.m., and is open to parents and residents of the community.

Eight Safety Tips for 'Parents'

Parents today were given eight safety tips to prevent death or serious injury to small children from falls.

Citing that most disabling falls by young children are the result of parental negligence, Dr. Albert H. Domm, regional medical director for an insurance company, urged the following precautions:

- Never leave baby unattended on a bed or couch, no matter how small and immobile he seems to be.
- Screen and securely fasten all windows.
- Put gates at the top and bottom of stairways.
- Lock doors leading to basements or out on porches.

—Check baby's crib, high chair and other furniture to be sure he is not in danger of a fall.

—Be careful of rugs and scattered objects on the floor when carrying baby.

—Equip auto doors with safety locks.

—Teach older children how to climb safely and be sure they wear rubber-soled shoes when climbing.

More than half of all children under 15 years of age who die from falls each year are four years old or younger. Be sure that you take all precautions possible to protect your children.

He Looks Good in There

WASHINGTON, D. C. — May be Somebody Up There loves us — after all.

But for a mere 118,000 votes out of 69 million, but for some alleged and probably ballot box burglary in several big States, but for some hanky - panky by the Two or Three Worst Newspapers, we might not today have John Kennedy as a majority - vote President.

ON THE BASIS of his first three major appearances — the Inaugural Address, the first press conference, the recent State of the Union speech — it would be a great pity, and perhaps a prelude to tragedy, to have anybody else in the White House.

I write this, having heard in person all three of the encyclopedic and inspired address with their Churchillian frankness and defiance, their Early Rooseveltian (circa 1933-34) elevation, their post - election Kennedian verve and clarity. Except for the acceptance speech in Los Angeles, where he christened his adventurous craft the New Frontier, I think the record will show Mr. Kennedy never talked in the autumnal campaigns the way he has talked in the winter of his ascension to office.

MORE — AS THE nation and press should always be aware — the translation of words into deeds is the pay - off in statecraft. In truth, the President has talked much, but done little — and some of his doings have been less exalted and imaginative than his phraseology.

He has caused some of us to wonder, rightly or wrongly, if he is moving toward an attempt to "manage" the flow of news under the excuse of "national security." He missed a chance, I think, to assert American mastery of the high seas by not ordering the Navy to board and seize the pirated Santa Maria. Such action would have served notice, better than words, that we intend to get rough in the protection of law and liberty.

BUT, ALL IN ALL, this man looks like the answer to a nation's prayers. Whether, and when, he will materialize this appearance, is not yet clear, but in a visible manner he has already received a form of deferred mandate from the country. Remembering that the Congress of the United States is representative of the people, let us review how the President's State of the Union speech was received.

My notes show that the Republicans who sat there in the House of Representatives began by registering the skepticism and resentment of the election results, but they were very soon won over to this very partisan politico of a Democrat.

APART FROM some courtesy-clapping, the first applause came when the President, having pommelled the GOP's midriff with a recitation of the Eisenhower failures and phony optimism, came in with his Sunday punch — "This Administration does not intend to stand helplessly by!" The Democrats roared — the Republicans glowered in silence.

Shortly afterwards, the President tried the healing gesture of non - partisanship: "This is not a partisan program . . . it is a national program to realize our strength." The Democrats gave sanctimonious applause — all but Congressman Jim Fulton, to my observation, maintained the Republican freeze.

BUT THEREAFTER, the President began to win on both sides of the aisle. The Republicans loosened up when he side-swiped Foreign Aid by saying, " . . . this country has continued to bear more than its share . . ."

He drew two - party plaudits when he pledged to protect the dollar and when he overrode Mr. Eisenhower's unpopular withdrawal of military dependents from overseas posts: " . . . ways will be found to ease our dollar outlays abroad without placing the full burden on the families of men whom we have asked to serve our colors overseas."

Later the Republicans applauded (and Democrats did not) when the President acknowledged one Eisenhower Merit: "today this country is ahead in the science and technology of Space." But thereafter, except at the very end when he gave a birthday salute to Franklin Roosevelt, President Kennedy had virtually the whole Congress — and, I would guess, the country — with him.

It's much too early to say "Well done," but "So far — so good" is very much in order. —Holmes Alexander

'I Keep Hearing Noises'

This Side of The Sun

By Phat

From deep in the midwest Where it was 15 above Came a plea for some sunshine Which we have plenty of.

This is rather belated but it's the first chance I have had to comment.

ANYWAY, JIMMY Cooper, manager of the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce tells of a telegram he received last Friday. While he didn't get the entire motive back of the message it was a good one and boost for our climate.

"Best of all," he said, "we're spreading the name of Palm Springs and the desert far and wide. They are following the news of the desert closely in other places."

THE TELEGRAM was from one Charles A. Beal Jr., who designated himself as a public relations director. Of what, he didn't specify. But from the text, it could be for Palm Springs hereafter.

From Indianapolis, Ind., the message directed to Cooper, read: "The Groundhog saw his shadow today. Snow, 15 degrees above zero. Will exchange it all for one pound of your 80 degree weather. Congratulations on your $50,000 golf tournament."

THAT MEANS, said Cooper, that the story of our Golf Classic is attracting wide attention. "He sent that wire on the day that Don January banged his ace and he had the news from Palm Springs that afternoon although the sun was setting back there when the ace was scored here."

As before stated, in these pieces, the Classic is one of the best publicity events for the desert ever staged.

THERE'S THE STORY of the man returning home from a meeting and his fond wife asked him how his speech went over.

"Which one?" he snorted. "The one I was going to give, the one I did give, or the one I delivered so brilliantly to myself on the way home?"

That's the way it goes — you always think of bright things after you're all through. YESTERDAY I went on a sports binge, talking about the Classic and the coming of the Angels. I had a bright thought but forgot all about it until I reached the bottom of the page — no room.

But I'm not going to let it die.

I'm thinking about these exhibition baseball games due to start at the Polo Grounds March 11.

CITIZEN EISENHOWER is due in the desert area late this month to stay for a while.

Why not have him toss out the first ball for the first all major league exhibition game here?

Ike has had plenty of experience on tossing out the first ball. He did it for eight years while in Washington.

It's something for the Desert Angels Committee, that local group of hard - working sponsors of the Los Angeles training program here, to consider.

—STAN DELAPLANE

Hands Up!

Scarcely a brisk morning goes by but what I read about some lady who has heisted the local jug for a respectable sum of loot.

The main characteristic of these ladies is their respectability.

"Officials of the Corn Trust and Savings Bank said Miss Gopher had been assistant cashier for 25 years and was a 'quiet, respectable type of person.'"

They were amazed to find Miss Gopher has been tucking large bills in her reticule — lo, these 25 years.

CRIMINAL LADIES are a fascination. I do not mean crime-of-passion ladies who gunsmoke their spouses. I mean the pencil-juggling types.

It would appear that the quieter the lady, the more respectable she is, the sooner you should call in the bank examiners.

ALL KINDS of giddy chicks work in these glue factories and never lift so much as carfare. It is the trustworthy employee with frown wrinkles who is gimping the books in a way to awe a veteran CPA.

A NUMBER OF ladies work in our village bank. I am glad to say most of them are lively types — one of them chews gum. (A girl who chews gum can't be ALL bad is the way I look at it.)

My banker is a quiet respectable type. (This is OK in men bankers.) He works in an open window, behind an open, railed office.

I AM UNCERTAIN about banks where the banker works behind frosted doors. What is he doing in there? Maybe dopping the scratch sheets?

Most bankers who fall from grace with the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation are horse players. Bad horse players (Or maybe you don't hear about the good horse players. Could that be it?)

LADY BANK employees who fall, usually do so simply because they panic.

"I took a little to pay the grocery bill. Then I took some more to cover that. Before I knew it, I was caught in the web."

It seems pretty obvious that lady embezzlers can be beatcats behind the wicket. But, like most ladies, they cannot handle their own check books.

LADIES GENERALLY are natural embezzlers. And banks should think of this natural inclination.

Ladies embezzle from themselves.

Madame buys a marked down dress — "an absolute steal at $199.95!"

Next day her conscience needles her. She returns the dress.

DOES SHE NOW feel that she has saved $199.95 from going down the drain?

No, sir. She feels she is OWED $199.95. She then begins to steal from herself until the money is repaid her.

Bugged by the idea that she has somehow been cheated, she goes into a flurry of cotton frocks, gloves and household goods. She runs the score up to about $300. Somehow it all seems to work out better that way.

WITH A CHECK BOOK, a lady is in more of a dither. If she wrote a check for the $199.95, she does not simply cancel out this check.

"What I did — well, you see there was a check I wrote for the grocery bill for $89.56. And the check for the rent was $110. So it nearly came to $199.95 or about the same thing. So I just figured it canceled out and . . ."

THIS LOGICAL cancellation of something spent by something unsent really leaves you a good deal of spending money. And lady can see that.

And any spending money should be spent as soon as possible.

You can bank on that.

Dear Abby...

...by Abigail VanBuren

DEAR ABBY: My father is my problem. Pop is 73 and insists on wearing his hat in the house, restaurants and everywhere else he goes. I say he should take his hat off when he's indoors. He says all newspapermen wear their hats indoors and he used to be a newspaperman. Is this correct, and what should I tell him?

AT ODDS WITH POP

DEAR AT ODDS: Newspapermen go by the same rules of etiquette as everyone else. Elderly people can become as spoiled as children, so handle him with firmness and affection and tell Pop to take his hat off indoors because he's beginning to talk through it.

DAR ABBY: Just before Christmas our mother got a ticket for speeding. It cost her $25, which upset her terribly because it was her first offense in 32 years of driving. It also took a hunk out of her Christmas fund.

My brother and I wanted to cheer her up, so we typed a letter saying she had been "overcharged" by the Highway Department and we enclosed $20. We signed the letter "Captain Rednug" (which is our named spelled backwards). We thought she'd catch on, but she didn't. Now she is showing the letter all over town believing it really came from the Highway Department.

Our problem is whether to let her believe this, or to tell her the truth. We don't want her to find out later and feel foolish.

THE GUNDERS

DEAR GUNDERS: If you have a sense of honor, tell her — and hope she has a sense of humor. But no more forgeries, or you will all wind up in the "wogsooh" (which is "hoosgow" spelled backwards).

DEAR ABBY: I recently returned home from a TB sanitarium and was told my health was excellent and that I should lead a normal life.

My problem is how to convince my friends and neighbors. During the holidays people actually LEFT Christmas gifts for the children at our door because they were afraid to come in. This hurt the children terribly, as they are old enough to understand the situation. I would rather they had not received those gifts at all.

Abby, are we living in the 20th century or the stone age? Are people so ignorant that they think former TV patients released from a sanitarium will contaminate them? Please, please print my letter. If you can educate just a few, it will save so much heartbreak for former TB patients and their families. CURED BUT BROKEN-HEARTED.

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply from Abby, send a self - addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Who pays for what? For Abby's pamphlet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., and include a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Abby answers ALL mail.

People...Places...Things...

NEW YORK — People . . . Places . . . Things . . . Michael Gorboff, the American artist who has painted virtually every king of his time except King Gillette, recently was signally honored. The Prado, Madrid's indiscreet treasure of great art, asked to buy his stirring portrait of the XVII Duke of Alba, for many years the museum's president and Spanish Ambassador to the Court of St. James's.

Momentarily stunned, Mike recovered and packed off a quick reply to the Prado's famed director, Francisco Javier Sanchez Canton, of the old Canton Bulldogs.

"I PREFER NOT to be paid for an honor so great," he wrote. "This kind of honor cannot be translated into money."

It was indeed a tribute to my colleague in a semi - subversive call called the Artists and Writers, which is headed by Rube Goldberg.

Mike's painting of the Patriotic Duke is the first Prado has hung by any artist of this century, the only one in the museum by a living artist, and the first work of an American.

SANCHEZ CANTON, in a letter expressing his gratitude for the gift, wrote, "Your feelings of admiration for the Prado and especially for the works of Velasquez and Goya, which prompted your generosity, say much about your spiritual refinement — just as the Portrait of the Duke shows your mastery as a portrait painter."

U. S. Ambassador John Davis Lodge was on hand for the presentation at Museum and spoke warmly of how this gift, and this great honor, would bind the two countries ever more closely in the field of culture.

The Spanish newspapers and magazines played it up as a first class news story, which it was. But this item, alas, is the first to be printed about the event, in Mike's own country.

BILLY CONN, now vice president of a Pittsburgh power-mower company, was complaining at "21" the other day that nobody ever saw him win a fight.

"All they remember are the two fights against Louis," the still handsome and immensely amusing former light - heavyweight champion said. "Nobody must have showed up at those hundred and one fights I won. I could've sworn I saw people in the audience. But I guess I was wrong. People stop me wherever I go and say, 'Hey, I lost a bundle on you the night you fought Louis.' Nobody ever bet on me when I beat all those other guys. In Las Vegas, once, a kid braced me and said, 'I lost my motorcycle betting on you, you bum.' I said, 'Stop griping. I probably saved your life.'"

BILLY HAD A chance to get a soft job in the Navy at the outbreak of World War II, but declined it. "I didn't like the pants on the uniform," he explains today. Instead, he enlisted in the Army and was sent off to a rough training camp. The first day he lined up, the sergeant, a very rough character, bawled to the men, "Get this straight, you guys. I can lick any one of you, see?"

"There was a pause," Billy recalls. "Then I said, 'I'll have to fade you on that, sergeant.'"

The guy pushed his face against mine and said 'Yeah? What's your name, buster.' I told him, and then there was another pause. Then he turned to the other guys and roared, 'Okay, I can lick any one of you — except this guy, see?'"

THE CASE OF the Santa Maria places a burden hereafter on travel agents, Len Probst of NBC points out. "How are they going to sell a five-day trip to the Caribbean without promising that maybe the ship will be hijacked and they can get an extra week at the Pirates' expense?" he asks.

Reminds us of the Lichy cartoon of the well - padded couple confronting their travel agent with, "All right, but what is there to do in Moscow except have a three - hour interview with Khrushchev?"

AFTER SUNSET

More Top Film Fare Tomorrow

By GEORGE LAINE
Tomorrow night is the second evening of the Desert Art Festival of Film Classics, to be held at 8 p.m. in the Desert Museum's auditorium.

The bill, as last time, is a provocative combination of motion pictures constructed not to gross $5 million at the box office, but rather to provide impetus for audience thought processes and reach the high standards of some exceptional producers and directors.

SCHEDULED FOR presentation are "A Nous, La Liberté," a French product featuring Rene Clair's satire on the effects of automation amongst humankind.

Also on the bill are two American efforts, one a detailed nightmare showing an orang-utang loose in a building titled "Night In a Pet Shop" and a camera ride along an elevated railway called "Third Avenue El."

The practical worth of such a series of films on a community such as Palm Springs can scarcely be overestimated. Too much of our entertainment fare deals with things of the moment. In the film festival, thus far, there has been consequence and import in each moment. The best advice for today? See the festival's offering tomorrow night.

NOTES OFF THE CUFF: "The World of Susie Wong," which hits town Thursday at the Plaza, has had a great first run in Los Angeles . . . It is to Earl Strehle's great credit that Palm Springs is getting this film at the same time the rest of the theaters are obtaining it . . . Do it oftener, Earl! . . . I'm still finding funny lines in Harry Oliver's last Desert Rat Scrapbook . . . Like W. C. Fields' great quote: "A woman drove me to drink and I be a son - of - a gun but I never even wrote her to thank her."

Got Good Memory? See Andrews Sisters

"You have no idea how happy you make us," say the Andrews Sisters at one juncture in their new show, which started Sunday night in the Chi Chi Starlite Room, "because you have good memories."

That's substantially the story—except for one superlative area in mid-show when the three legendary songsters weren't relying on onetime hit recordings to please the crowd — of the return of the Andrews Sisters to the club and theater circuit.

That mid - section mentioned above was well worth the price of admission, however, and indicated that the sisters needn't rest entirely on laurels gained in the dim, dead past.

In that segment, the three did a flapper thing — complete with fringed dresses — that pulls the best tunes out of their new Capitol LP, "The Dancing 20s." It included "Collegiate," "Don't Bring Lulu" and "Barney Google" and featured the crowd singing along (with eyes glued to the bouncing rubber ball) on "Show Me the Way to Go Home."

Before the girls got there, a comedian named Don Corey enjoyed notably little success with his audience until he got around to a bit of dialogue between two Polish Americans in a used car lot.

The Peiro Brothers, a juggling team, did a novel takeoff with golf balls which ought to have been even more appropriate when the Classic was on.

Startling Facts In Airport Bond Report

PALM SPRINGS — According to a special report in the current issue of Palm Springs Life magazine, few people question the necessity of the city's proposed airport purchase, but they might question the way certain facts have been glossed over by the people's representatives in their zeal to sell a $3,000,000 bond issue — such as the fact that the total purchase price will be closer to $4,000,000 than 3,000,000.

TAB HUNTER HAS DESERT HOLIDAY

PALM DESERT — Crew - cut television and motion picture star, Tab Hunter crammed in a quick actor's holiday here last weekend.

In addition to a little lazing in the sun — with a script to study — Hunter joined the Palm Desert Players, and worked on plans with agent Dick Clayton for their next desert location at the Salton Sea.

"WE'RE ABOUT UP to schedule with five segments ahead in the can," Hunter told The Desert Sun. Catching up, after the studio strikes and some bad weather breaks on one location, "had us pretty busy for a while," he grinned.

An outgoing young athlete who trains his own hunting and jumping horses, Hunter has a deeply reflective side. A co-owner of a Beverly Hills oriental import shop, he is an avid student of Japanese and other oriental art and discipline.

"WE ARE GOING back to Japan this spring. Some of the most beautiful and peaceful country I've ever seen was in the mountains above the blue and red Lake Hakone," Hunter reflected. He added that he hopes to shoot a motion picture in Japan, but hasn't made any other long - range plans beyond his current television series "The Tab Hunter Show."

Hunter and Clayton arrived at the Shadow Mountain Terrace here at 1 a.m., Saturday, after a 14 hour shooting day.

"IT WAS RATHER peaceful driving out," he reported, adding that an early dip in the swimming pool "was wonderful."

"This is the first time I've been able to get down for a couple of years, but we used to come down to Dick's house a lot. Then he got so busy he couldn't come down either, so he had to sell the house," Hunter said. Clayton recalled the weekend landscaping forays of the young set, including actress Debbie Reynolds, who frequently escaped to the desert five years ago.

HUNTER IS LOOKING forward to a location stint at the Salton Sea, where he will put in a full day before the cameras on water skis. A second partial sequence will be shot with Hunter trotting

DR. AND MRS. ROY SHEPPARD emerge from the Church following their Saturday night wedding in Redlands. The bride is the former Françoise Sauvageau, the French singer, well known to night club audiences in the desert area.

Spice Muffins

Cranberry spice muffins are as pretty as they are tasty. Put 1 cup of fresh cranberries through food chopper; mix with 1/4 cup of sugar, 1/4 teaspoon each of cinnamon and allspice. Sift 1/4 cup of sugar with 2 cups of flour, 4 teaspoons of baking powder and 3/4 teaspoon of salt. Combine 1 egg, beaten, with 1 cup of milk and 3 tablespoons of melted butter. Add liquids to dry ingredients, stirring only until blended. Fold in sweetened cranberries. Bake in buttered muffin pans at 425 degrees about 25 minutes. Makes 12 medium muffins.

Françoise Sauvageau and Dr. Roy Sheppard Married

Romantic as a Valentine was the Saturday night wedding of Françoise Sauvageau and Dr. Robert G. Sheppard, who recited their vows and exchanged rings in Sacred Heart Church in Redlands, before Rev. Father Thomas Kean.

All white flowers in tall baskets, flanked the altar as the bridal attendants advanced down the aisle and the organist played the wedding music.

The dark-eyed bride has never looked lovelier than she did in a candlelight ballerina gown of chantilly lace. A pearl Queen Anne crown held the triple veil in her dusky hair, and she carried a cascade arrangement of fleur d'amour, white hyacinth and stephanotis.

centered by a single white cattleya orchid.

Matron of honor, Mrs. John Stephens of Westwood, wore a pale aqua sheath of organza and taffeta, with an overskirt of chantilly lace. Her scalloped veil was decorated with seed pearls and she carried a cascade of maize yellow carnations. Mrs. Alfred Sauvageau, sister-in-law of the bride, came from Mt. Clemens, Michigan to act as a wedding attendant. Her gown was the same as the matron of honor's, except that it was maize color and she carried stem dyed aqua carnations.

Acting as best man was Dr. Hale Tolleth of Bakersfield. Ushers were: John Stephens, Warren Leek, Lon Cheney, Charles Pierce. The bride, daughter of Mrs. Alfred Sauvageau of Woonsocket, Rhode Island, and the late Alfred S. Sauvageau, is a graduate of St. Clare High School and attended Hill College in Providence, Rhode Island. She is well known and loved in Palm Springs where she sang at Howard Manor all last winter. Before that she was a stellar attraction at Desert Air. She was given in marriage by her brother, Alfred Sauvageau.

The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sheppard of Whitewater, where they owned Sheppard's restaurant. A graduate of the University of Redlands and the Medical School of the University of Southern California, he is now Psychiatric resident at Patton State Hospital.

Following the ceremony, a procession of cars headed across town to the honeymoon cottage, at 224 Anita Court, where the wedding reception was held.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Sauvageau, wore a Helga original of pure silk beige with beaded bodice, a tiny gold hat with veil, and an orchid corsage, as she stood in the receiving line.

The bride and groom were toasted in champagne, and the household of wedding guests were served a buffet supper topped with slice of cake from the three-tiered confection.

The newlyweds left the next day for an Hawaiian honeymoon. They flew over and will return by ship.

AN ANTIQUE ORIENTAL JAR and one of the rare kimonos, which hostesses will wear at Panhellenic's Oriental Tea, which will be given Thursday afternoon at Bermuda Dunes, are examined by committeewomen, from left, Mrs. George F. Anderson, Mrs. Florence Hart Larned and Mrs. John C. Bernet. The kimono is from Mrs. Larned's collection.

Oriental Tea on Thursday

Carrying out an Oriental theme, a complete travel wardrobe for a trip to the Orient will be modeled at the Panhellenic Scholarship Tea which will be held at the Thomas Carter home in Bermuda Dunes, on Thursday, from 2 to 5 p.m.

Wardrobe items will start with the bon voyage, and range through deck sports, dressing for dinner, the Captain's Dinner, sightseeing ashore and nightclubbing in foreign ports. Gowns are by Edith Morre. The show, which is being coordinated by Mrs. John Blatt of Indio and vice president John Vale is under the chairmanship of Mrs. George F. Anderson. It will be commented by Mrs. John C. Bernet.

The Oriental theme will also prevail in the decor, with Panhellenic members bringing rare oriental treasures to help create atmosphere.

Mrs. Thomas P. Conroy is decorations chairman, assisted by Mmes. Ray Rodney Jones, George Lingo, Ralph Dietz. Mrs. R. S. Cosgrove will use her own heirloom silver, camellias from her garden and choice pieces from her oriental collection, for the tea table.

Chairman in charge of models is Mrs. Paul Jenkins, who will present models Veloma Waldron, Taylor Dunlevie, Vi Schlessinger, Gail Glass, Dorothy Perkins, Virginia Field, Estell Longwill, Judy Anderson, Beverly Hanson, Frances Ripley. Background music will be by Chuck Travis.

Other chairmen at work on the preparations are Mmes. Wade Ellis, George Munns, Edward E. Ruge, tea and tidbits: Mrs. Kay Olesom, seating arrangements; Mrs. Florence Hart Larned and Mrs. Ross Cunningham, reception and gifts; Hostesses will be Mmes. Frank Purcell, P. A. Staley, Gerald Fostvedt, Chauncey Needham, Robert Ellsworth, Arthur Banta, Leland Yost, Kay Olesom, Harry Ramsey, Stanley Chambers, Earl Coffman, Hudson B. Werder, Wilbur Lucas. Hostess chairman Mrs. Earl Coffman has asked former presidents, Mmes. Edward Ruge, Francis Pruitt, Randall Henderson, John Blatt, Thomas Carter Sr. and John Arthur Johnson to take turns presiding at the tea table.

Tickets may be secured from ticket chairman Mrs. Randall Henderson, FI 6-6571; Mrs. Roger Williams, 325-2932; Mrs. Ross Cunningham, 328-3203 or Mrs. Harry Ramsey, DI 7-5674.

Yam Ham

Dixie yam-ham casserole is a honey of a one-dish meal. Melt 1/4 cup of butter or margarine in a small saucepan. Add 1-3 cup of honey, 1 teaspoon of salt and 1 1/2 teaspoons of cinnamon. Cook over low heat to boiling point. Add 2 tablespoons of lemon juice. Arrange 4 medium yams, pared and sliced, with 2 medium apples, cored and sliced, and 1/4 cup of seedless raisins, in a greased 2 1/2 quart casserole. Top with 1 pound of sliced cooked ham. Pour honey mixture over this. Cover and bake in a 350-degree oven 1 hour or until yams are tender.

Around Town

... with Hildy Crawford

Real red heads ... and always-wanted-to-be red heads ... arriving at the Tennis Club for the annual Red Head Ball a week from tonight ... on St. Valentines ... will find a painting of a red haired woman on display ... An original oil painting by Helen (Mrs. Walter) Braunschweiger ... it is to be given away the following Saturday evening ... when Pathfinders celebrates its first five golden years of working for Palm Springs youth ... at a black tie dinner dance at Tennis Club ... Helen and Walter will have to miss the Red Head Ball ...

Because that's the night when her first one woman showing of her oils opens at the Scorpio Gallery in Los Angeles ... The Braunschweigers have invited some 200 Los Angeles civic and social leaders to a reception that evening ... Due to the Red Head Ball here that night ... they are inviting their Palm Springs friends to a second reception on the evening of February 21 ... The exhibit will continue for at least a month ... While this is her first showing in Los Angeles ... she had shows in New York and in Rome this past year ...

Always a popular event ... this year's Red Head ball promises to be the biggest yet ... as Joan McManus tells me she has great plans ... There will be a surprise or two ... special entertainment ... and prizes for the men and women who are judged the most amazing ... or most becoming ... redheads ... Red hair comes naturally to a few ... while others achieve it by a rinse ... or by donning a wig ... and goodness only knows how Raymond Cree achieved that bright orange last February ... Some of the results are so startling that best friends fail to recognize each other ... This is a fun party ... so make your hair match your heart in color on Valentines ... and ... just so you don't forget you have a date ... call Maitre d' Paul right now for your table reservation ... This is the only big party scheduled for that night ...

The friendly and hospitable Eddie ... with all the charm that makes him such a delight on television ... and Burnice (attractive in a print gown with matching, floating scarf) welcomed the guests ... who soon filled the big room ... overflowing into the diningroom where the buffet was set up ...

Bobbi and Bill Perlberg (she in a black and gold brocade) and Noonie and Joe Hall (she's been fighting an allergy) arrived ... and were soon joined by Mona Freeman and Jack Ellis ... The Charlie Farrells were there and Nellis and Al Hunt ... Dottie and Tom Davis arrived with a group

... which included Captain Valdemar Nielsen of the American President Lines ... the Doyle Cottons, Randy Christies, Joe Hales ... Florence Horn looking tres chic in a Hong Kong evening coat in my favorite shade of blue ... Mary and Allan Jones (they are back in their Palm Springs home ... but Mary is still recuperating from surgery) ... Vicki and Billy Malouf (she in an exciting blue green gown) ... Helen and Ken Kirk, Georgina Poston and Jimmy Morton ... Vivian and Glenn Austin (she just out of the hospital for the seventh time) ... Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Grow, Muriel Fulton, Dorothy Gray Brown (she whipped up a party for close to a hundred the night before ... to welcome Mollie and Charlie Berns of New York's 21 Club ... who are here for their almost annual visit ...

... the Terrence Clynes (he's head of TV and Radio for McCann-Erickson), the Lester Seligs, Maria Gaspa ...

Winsome Courtney (being commiserated on the robbery which cost her two fur coats) arrived with Darryl Herron (executive vice president of Trends Pacific Inc. of L.A.) ... Vie and Bud Graves, the Adolph Brimers, A. R. Simons, Rose Mints ... and more ... whose names I either didn't get scribbled down ... or couldn't read this morning ...

Yellow, white and blue flowers decorated the tables ... when Muriel and Abe Lipsey entertained at one of the numerous parties ... inspired by visiting golfers ...

In the party ... which gathered in the Garden Room at the Racquet Club ... were the Lloyd Mangrums, Dan Brands of Rio (she's Brazilian woman's golf champion) ... Mrs. Tex McCrary (she's Jinx Falkenberg), the Bobby Falkenbergs ... Rocky and Sadye Hall, Hal Wallis ... the Ed Thrashers and their weekend houseguests the Bill Tomberlins of Denver ... Ruth Roman and Hedy LeMarr (she was guesting with the Lipseys) ... There were around 30 in the gay party ...

A stimulating item of conversation ... was Hal Wallis' announcement that he intends to give Gary Player a screen test ... This is the handsome young golfer who won the $50,000 tournament in San Francisco a week earlier ...

Carl Phillips Weds Army A.F. Nurse in Puerto Rico

Of interest to friends in the Pass and desert areas, is the announcement of the wedding of Major Lorraine Elizabeth Pensinger, a nurse in the United States Army Air Force, and daughter of L. Roy Pensinger of Greencastle, Pennsylvania, and Captain Carl Phillips, son of the former Congressman John Phillips and Mrs. Phillips, of Banning.

The nuptials took place in the chapel of Ramey Air Force Base in the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico on January 22, with Chaplain Arthur Wingo officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law Dr. I. H. Shupp of Hagerstown, Maryland, wore a classic gown of Italian pesanta, appliqued with medallions of Alencon lace. The full skirt, with a court train was further enhanced by panners to the back of the gown. With it she wore a mantilla of handmade Brussels lace. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and lilies of the valley.

Attending her was Mrs. Isaac Shupp, wearing soft blue satin with flared tunic overskirt and complementary accessories, and carrying a bouquet of yellow carnations and lilies of the valley.

Attending the bridegroom was Major Charlie L. Newsum Jr., of Ramey Air Force Base, who had been stationed in Greenland, at the same time the bridegroom was.

Several hundred guests were present for the reception, which was held in the Officers' Club.

After honeymooning in the mountains of Barranquitas, the newlyweds will head for California, where the bridegroom is stationed at Castle Air Base.

A graduate of the Jefferson Hospital School of nursing in Philadelphia and Duke University at Durham, North Carolina, the bride served overseas in the Middle East for three years.

The bridegroom graduated from Stanford and served with the Air Force at March Air Force Base and later at Greenland Air Base. He is a member of the Desert Press Club at Palm Springs.

Kempers Host Celebration

Glowing candles, interspersed with blue and white floral arrangements made attractive settings for the dinner party, which Ambassador and Mrs. James Kemper hosted at the Committee of Twenty Five Club.

The Kempers, only recently arrived in Palm Springs from their Chicago home, gave the party in celebration of his 50th year in the insurance business. It was also planned to celebrate the recovery of his brother, Hathaway Kemper, who underwent major surgery this past summer. The two brothers are associated in the Kemper Insurance Company and both have winter homes in Palm Springs.

In addition to the sumptuous dinner served by Santos, the gathering was entertained by a program presented by the entire cast of entertainers from El Mirador's South Pacific Room.

The four Kempers welcomed a group of friends, many of them winter residents, who come from many parts of the United States. Dinner guests included: the Floyd Turners and Mrs. F. C. Dougherty of Pasadena; the Bruce Burritts of Fargo, North Dakota; Mel Eatons of Norwich, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ross of Woodside, California; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Owens of Piedmont; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. French of San Francisco; the George Hollis of Detroit; Mrs.

Horace W. Armstrong of Santa Barbara; Mrs. Irving Florsheim, Col. and Mrs. Edward J. Barrett of Chicago; Mrs. Nate F. Milnor, Beverly Hills; Mr. and Mrs. William Levis of Toledo; Mrs. Grover Weyland of Racine, Wisconsin; the Dean Vincents, Honorable and Mrs. Harrison E. Spangler of Portland; the Fred Karlens of Tacoma; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Savidge of Seattle; the Winston Pauls of Montclair, New Jersey; Charles Beckers of Springfield, Illinois; Fred Albertsons of Camarillo; the Frank Bennetts, Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Purcell, Glenn Austin (Vivian's in the hospital again) and Mr. and Mrs. O. E. L. Graves, all of Palm Springs.

Gautiellos Have New Son

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gautiello of 1170 Via Colusa, have welcomed a two-month-old boy into their family. The Gautiellos, who are longtime residents of Palm Springs, have named the child Mark Duane. He has an older sister, Paula, who is adopted, also.

Mrs. Gautiello is a member of Palm Springs Chapter of the Children's Home Society and it was through this channel that they found their new little son. They made application for him about a year ago.

Gautiello is associated with the Culver Nichols real estate office here.

Ambrosia

Vary the usual ambrosia recipe by using both oranges and pears. Mix 2 large fresh pears, washed peeled and diced, with 4 large fresh oranges, peeled and cut into sections. Sprinkle with grated fresh coconut and serve to 8.

AVCCF Auxiliary to Plan Year's Work on Thursday

Plans for the coming year will be discussed under the direction of ways and means chairman, Mrs. George Morris, when Palm Springs Auxiliary of AVCCF holds its general membership meeting Thursday at 11 a.m. at the Tennis Club. This is the first meeting under the new administration, and Mrs. Natalie Myers, the new president, will conduct the meeting.

Other new board members are: Mrs. James Carlisle, 1st vice president; Mrs. W. George Morris, 2nd vice president; Mrs. James Schlecht, 3rd vice president; Mrs. Evin Hall, recording secretary;

Mrs. Jack Allman, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Rex Smith, financial secretary; Mrs. Ross Wynans, treasurer; Mrs. N. A. Bertram, parliamentarian and Mrs. Joseph Wasserman, historian. Directors of the board are Mmes. Ernie Dunlevie, Beth Grant, A.J.L. Hutchinson, Philip Abrams, Isobel Cooper, Daniel Newton and Joseph Weiger. Committees are as follows: hospitality, Mrs. Richard Bagdasarian; telephone, Mrs. Forrest Bird; bags, Mrs. Albert Abden Nur and Mrs. Lou Mawby; tribute and memorial, Mrs. John Williams; publicity, Mrs. Philip Abrams and Mrs. Lena Justman; angel banks, Mrs. A.J.L. Hutchinson and Mrs. James Mitchell; carnations, Mrs. Jack Copass and Mrs. James Sloane; mythical tea, Mrs. Daniel Newton; bracelets, Mrs. Jeannette Lipsky; decorations, Mrs. Chester Moorten and Mrs. James Potter. The committees are now working on what should be a very successful agenda for the coming year.

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

'Flintstones' TV Hoax of Season

By FRED DANZIG
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — The great TV hoax of this season, in my book, is "The Flintstones."

It was a happy occasion last year when ABC-TV announced that the 1960-61 season would be enlivened with an "adult-aimed situation comedy in animated cartoon form."

THE PROSPECT of an adult cartoon series was something to which I looked forward with pleasure. Well, "The Flintstones" came and conquered. The show caught on. It won awards as "most unique new program," of all things. Millions of adults tune in.

But it's not the show it purported to be. As I watch the show, off and on—in the words of the TV knob—I find myself wondering what it will begin to be an "adult-aimed" satire on modern suburban life.

THE OTHER DAY I saw this quote from Joe Barbera, one of the creators of "The Flintstones": "We never said Flintstones would be adult. That was a part of a publicity buildup... nowhere in the format did we promise people an animated New Yorker magazine."

In short, we've been had. While the great awakening has made my disappointment easier to bear, it won't affect the youngsters. They did it. And I dig "Huckleberry Hound," which is more adult and more satirical, even though it's billed as a "kiddy show."

Probably the oddest switch of the season was NBC's decision to drop its new "Klondike" adventure series, set in the cold, cold North, replacing it with "Acapulco," set in somewhat warmer Mexico. Newcomer Ralph Taeger is the hero in both. The same producing firm makes both shows.

The "Tightrope" undercover detective series that ran on CBS during the 1959-60 season is in the process of being revived and revised for next season. The intention is to make it a one-hour instead of a half-hour show. Mike Connors would continue in the leading role.

U.S. Mystified By Catholics Make 'Sun' Classifieds a Habit

Growth of Sect Frightens Protestants

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International
America's Catholic population has grown by 44 per cent in the past 10 years.

Its Protestant population increased by only 22 per cent during the same period.
If this disparity in growth rates continues, there obviously will come a day when Catholics outnumber Protestants in the United States. But that day is still distant. At present, Protestants outnumber Catholics by 2-1, or in round figures, 80 million to 40 million.

THE PROTESTANTS, however, are divided into more than 200 different denominations, while the Catholics are united in a single massive institution.

How large this institution looms, even in a land grown accustomed to bigness, is indicated in a few statistics. It has a hierarchy of 190 bishops and 31 archbishops, six of whom hold the princely rank of cardinal. It is served by nearly 54,000 priests and 165,000 nuns. It maintains 17,000 parishes, 5,000 missions, and nearly 14,000 schools at all levels from kindergarten through college. Upward of 5,500,000 students — one-eighth of America's children — are enrolled in these Catholic schools.

THE BASIC organization of the church is buttressed by about 240 national Catholic societies and associations, and thousands of local circles and sodalities.

The church communicates with its members through more than 550 diocesan newspapers, magazines and other periodicals.

The sheer size of this enterprise frightens some non-Catholic Americans, particularly those who believe that the church exercises a high degree of discipline over its members.

THEY FEAR THAT children who attend Catholic schools are "indoctrinated" in a particular Catholic viewpoint toward U. S. history and politics.

They see "censorship" and "thought control" in the church's efforts to advise Catholics on what movies to see and what books to read.

The church replies that Catholic parents have made great financial sacrifices to maintain the Catholic school system because they want their children to receive a religiously oriented education which is impossible in public schools.

IT DENIES ANY attempt at censorship or thought control, and says that the church is simply protecting its members from possibly dangerous temptations when it condemns certain books and movies.

Some non-Catholics also accuse the Catholic Church of trying to "impose" its own moral teachings on the whole American society by such means as Sunday observance laws, movie boycotts, and regulations forbidding public clinics to dispense birth control information.

Catholics reply that the moral precepts which they urge upon society are not based on particular doctrines of their church, but are drawn from the "natural law" which is applicable to all men.

MANY AMERICAN Catholics are genuinely surprised to learn how much "dictation" outsiders think they get from their church. They particularly resent any suggestion that their membership is an "authoritarian" church, less devoted to this country's free institutions than non-Catholics.

Mutual misunderstanding on this score is probably the greatest single root cause of Catholic-Protestant tensions, and was certainly a major factor in the emotional heat generated by the "religious issue" in the 1960 presidential campaign.

One perceptive Catholic scholar, Fr. Gustave Weigel, suggests that much of this misunderstanding stems from an erroneous belief that American Catholics have the same outlook and attitudes as the Catholics of Europe and Latin America.

ACTUALLY, SAYS Fr. Weigel, the Catholics of this country, in their long struggle for "acceptance" by a predominantly Protestant culture, have "taken on the color and habits" of American life to such an extent that they bear little resemblance to the Catholics of other lands beyond the sharing of a common religious faith.

"The American Catholic has explicitly chosen to be a Catholic," says Fr. Weigel. His religion was not "trust upon him by a culture," and if he chooses to leave the Catholic Church, "no social condemnation will fall upon him."

Because his adherence to the church and acceptance of its teachings and disciplines is voluntary, he does not feel that he is any less free than any other American.

CATHOLICS SAY that their freedom to think for themselves on non-religious matters is demonstrated by their wide divergence of views on many important questions.

A good example is the issue of religious freedom. There is a "traditional" Catholic view, espoused by some 19th Century popes and still upheld in countries like Spain, which asserts that the Catholic Church should receive special recognition and exclusive rights from the state in any land where there are enough Catholics to make such an arrangement politically tenable.

But there is also a "modern" viewpoint, which is clearly dominant among American Catholics. It holds that church-state separation is a good thing even in countries where Catholics are an overwhelming majority, and that religious freedom must be guaranteed to non-Catholics, not as a temporary expedient, but as a God-given right.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY was asked repeatedly during the election campaign whether he considers himself a Catholic first and an American second, or vice versa.

The question seemed altogether reasonable to the Protestants who raised it. But many Catholics professedly shocked by the implication that they must choose between church and country.

The typical American Catholic is an ardent patriot as well as a devoted church member, and he is not conscious of any conflict between his two great loyalties.

Crippled Indians Host Hemet

Injuries Piling Up for Tribe

Tough luck comes in bunches, like bananas, according to Jim Workman, coach of the Palm Springs High Indian basketball team.

Touted as one of the contenders at the start of the Desert Valley League basketball season, the Indians are now in sole possession of last place, having lost all five of their DVL starts.

TONIGHT they entertain Hemet High, currently with a 3-3 mark in the DeAnza League in a practice game on the home floor.

Workman had an inexperienced but eager squad to start the season, and the team was going good until injuries hit them.

First it was ineligibility which cost them Gus Walton, rebounding leader who quit school and went to India.

THEN RON STUDEBAKER, one of the best centers of the loop went out for the season, followed by Terry Morris, powerful replacement.

This week Dag Duran, another active player, underwent an appendectomy and is lost for the season.

"That's eight players I've lost so far this season," moaned Workman.

Against Hemet tonight, coach Workman plans to start Tyrone Edwards, Mark Edwards, up among the first ten in DVL scoring, Carlos Reyes, Bill and Tom Bradley.

B teams clash at 6:30 tonight and the Varsity game will follow.

272 Candidates Turn Out to Try For Angel Team

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Manager Bill Rigney of the Los Angeles Angels and his coaching staff today worked out a semblance of order at the new American League club's tryout camp and settled down to the job of sifting prospects for talent.

A throng of 272 embryo baseball players turned out for the opening day of the tryouts Monday at the Veterans' Hospital baseball field in West Los Angeles.

The Angels had anticipated 75 or 100 at the most, and it took the efforts of the entire managerial staff, scouts, farm directors and other hastily recruited aides to restore some order so that Rigney could get down to the job of judging the prospects.

"If we come up with two, three or four good prospects it will be worth while," Rigney grinned.

"I don't know if there are any diamonds in the rough in the crowd. But we hope to find out before the week is over."

Moreno Up On Oligarchy Today In Anita Feature

ARCADIA (UPI) — Jockey Pete Moreno returned from a week's suspension today to draw the mount on Oligarchy in the featured $10,000 Ontario Purse at Santa Anita.

Other entries in the 1 1/16 mile headliners, included Cleave, Odd Fellow, Civic Pride, Terciopelo and Monk's Hood.

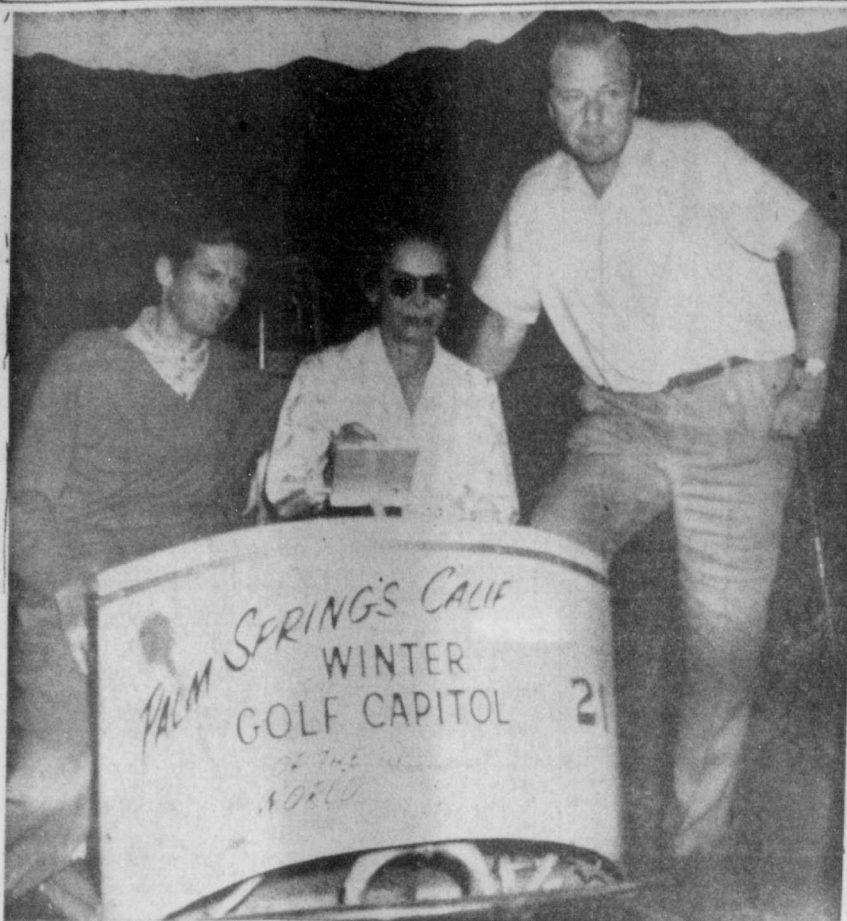

Moreno is the 1961 winner of the George Woolf Memorial Award. He will receive the award Monday prior to the day's racing on the legal holiday in observance of Lincoln's Birthday.

The track was dark Monday.

Call Issued for Baseball Umps

Roy W. Grow, recreation supervisor for the city, today issued a call to all interested in umpiring baseball games adult baseball, adult softball, Little League and Minor League games.

The meeting will be held tomorrow evening in the conference room of the city hall.

ON THE FAIRWAYS

Chase Garfield Fires 5 Under Age with a 76

Chase Garfield, who admits being 81 years of age, shot well below that figure Sunday when he fashioned a 76 for 18 holes at O'Donnell Golf Club.

Garfield, from Seattle, was in a foursome with Joe Gilpen of Tacoma, Wiggs Campbell of O'Donnell and LACC and William Hyde of Spokane when he carded his five-under-age 76.

Saturday, Kieth Jacobs, father of Tommy Jacobs of Bermuda Dunes, brought Johnny Jacobs, 15-year-old brother of Tommy to O'Donnell and the kid showed that it runs in the family.

He carded a 65 for 18 holes to make some of the old-timers look up with envy.

SMC Finalists

Irene Bellamy and Julie Harris will meet in the finals of the Gates of the Desert golf tournament of the Women's Auxiliary of Shadow Mountain Golf club as result of semi-finals played last weekend.

Mrs. Bellamy won from Margaret Bush in the semi-finals and Mrs. Harris won from Mrs. Grace Tinklebaum.

In the men's Virginia Field Parker trophy tournament, Elly Fredricks and Dr. Almon Johnston are the finalists and will play this week.

A new course record for women was set at Shadow Mountain by Mrs. H. R. Staats of Los Angeles, a member of Shadow Mountain Club who fired a 34-36-70.

A few days earlier, Bob Pinnell, Shadow Mountain pro, set a new course record for men with a 31-30-61.

Baylor Drops in 37 for Lakers in Win Over Royals

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI) — The Los Angeles Lakers, on the upswing the past few weeks, traveled to Madison Square Garden in New York tonight to play Boston after defeating Cincinnati here Monday night 110-101.

Oscar Robertson scored 37 points for Cincinnati, but it wasn't enough to pull his team in front. Los Angeles' Elgin Baylor playing only a few miles from Washington, D.C., his hometown, scored 35 points.

AMBASSADOR FROM SOUTH AFRICA

Gary Player Leading In Money, Popularity

By HAL WOOD, United Press International PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Handsome, personable Gary Player has turned into the best sports ambassador the British Commonwealth ever has sent to the United States.

Player is winning most of the money on the 1961 golf tour—and making the other players like it.

He is the official leading money winner with more than $13,000 to his credit through the first five tournaments. In addition he has picked up several thousands more from sponsors for his exploits on the fairways.

A POLISHED SPEAKER, he is one of the most popular men on the circuit. He's also a politician and a diplomat — all at the age of 25 years.

After he won the Lucky International Open at San Francisco, he charmed the crowds and the sport writers with his remarks. He finished down the list in the Palm Springs 90-hole marathon (still winning $720), but left the desert spa loving him.

"These courses in Palm Springs are the toughest and finest set of golf links I've ever played," he told them. "On some of them you can hit the ball out of bounds on both sides of the fairways. And the greens are beautiful."

Country club members love to be told they have a beautiful — but very tough — course. And Gary said just the right thing.

THE LITTLE MAN, at 5-8 and 160 pounds one of the smallest men on the tour, now is getting big galleries with his driving.

"I used to be a very ordinary hitter off the tee," says Gary. "But an incident in the States on a tour a couple of years ago changed that. I was playing with a pro who fancied himself as quite a long hitter. I seemed to be driving just about even with him—but every time he told me to hit away because I had the shortest drive."

"I got so disgusted that I resolved to learn to be a longer hitter. I went back to South Africa and I took all kinds of exercise to strengthen my arm muscles. Now I can do 60 pushups on my fingertips."

THE PLAN WORKED because now Player out-drives this same pro by 20 to 40 yards on every tee shot.

Player has signed a contract calling for him to play a minimum of 32 PGA tournaments in the United States this year.

So he'll be taking his sporting ambassadorship from state to state and at the same time cutting into the earnings of the top U.S. professionals.

But most of them agree, he is a special added attraction to golf's greatest touring show.

Sultans Winners In Resort League

Because of the arrival of the Los Angeles Angels in the desert area to train at the Polo Grounds, the Desert Resort league regular season came to an end Sunday with the Davis Sultans of Indio winning the title.

Play-off games between the teams will start next Sunday to be followed by an All-Star game composed of the five lower teams against the Sultans Feb. 19.

Howard, Moon Sign Contracts

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Outfielders Frank Howard, the 1960 National League "Rookie of the Year," and Wally Moon today joined the ranks of Los Angeles Dodgers players signed for the coming season.

General Manager E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi announced Monday that he had received the signed contracts of both players.

Johnson 3-1 To Win Light Heavy Crown

NBA Version of Title at Stake at Miami Tonight

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — Harold Johnson, an aging pro with unscrambled dreams, meets Jesse Bowdry, a youngster in the first bloom of success, tonight for the National Boxing Association's version of the world light-heavyweight championship.

Odds makers have set the 32-year-old Johnson, of Philadelphia, as a 3-1 favorite in the scheduled 15-round bout at Convention Hall, slated to begin at 10 p.m., EST.

Promoter Chris Dundee has predicted a near-sellout crowd of about 8,000 and an estimated gross gate of $60,000. There will be no radio or television coverage.

FOR JOHNSON, who has known heartbreak in a boxing career that began in 1946, a victory over Bowdry, 23, would take away the sting of frustration surrounding his last try to capture the 175-pound title.

In 1954 Johnson challenged patriarchal Archie Moore for the crown. Johnson was leading on points through 13 rounds but Moore knocked him down in the 14th and the bout was stopped.

Johnson has beaten Moore but once in five meetings, and had the opportunity for the title now because the NBA lifted Moore's championship last year for failure to defend and matched Johnson and Bowdry in an elimination contest.

JOHNSON, A long-armed counter-puncher with terrific power in either hand, has won 63 fights and lost eight in 71 outings.

His ring experience is far greater than Bowdry's, who was only eight years old when Johnson began fighting.

The round-faced slugger from St. Louis has fought 34 times since turning pro in 1955, kayoing 23 victims and losing eight. But a reluctance to train forced manager Eddie Yawitz to farm out Bowdry to a meat packer and last year refused to line up bouts for him.

Bowdry returned, contrite, and Yawitz hired fistic immortal Henry Armstrong as trainer. Armstrong changed Bowdry's mental attitude and taught him his two-fisted, close-in attack. Bowdry used it in the fight that got him the title shot, an upset decision over speedy Willie Pastrano here Dec. 27.

First Winner

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ruthless, ridden by J. Kilpatrick, captured the first running of the Belmont Stakes in 1868, earning $1,850.

FIGHT RESULTS

PARIS — Isaac Legari, 151½, Cuba, drew with Hippolyte Annex, 149½, Paris 10.

NEW YORK — Lennie Matthews, 136½, Philadelphia, stopped J. D. Ellis, 136½, Trenton, N.J. 10.

CHICAGO — Ernie Terrell, 198, Chicago, stopped Ernie Cab, 208, Houston, Tex. 8.

PHILADELPHIA — Jimmy So, 145, Philadelphia, stopped Steve Haywood, 135, Baltimore 8; Sidney Adams, 142, Philadelphia, outpointed Willie Stevenson, 139½, Boston 8.

SAN FRANCISCO — Kirk Barrow, 183½, Spokane, Wash., outpointed Monroe Ratliff, 191½, San Diego, Calif. 10.

Red Heads Meet Picked City Loop Team Thursday

One of the fastest and most colorful Women's basketball teams of the nation — the All-American Red Heads — will be on the hardwoods of the high school gymnasium Thursday night to meet an All-Star team from the City Basketball League in a benefit game for the Palm Springs High School Varsity Club.

Howard Haddock, head of the city recreation department, sponsoring the game, and Clare Ballagh, athletic director at the high school, are co-chairmen for the benefit.

The All-American Red Head game with a picked all star team from the City League will get underway at 8:15 p.m. At 7 p.m. for the early comers, two picked teams from the City Loop will meet.

The All-American Red Heads have an enviable reputation, playing 180-200 games a year and never yet having failed to win 100 games or more against men's teams.

"The Red Heads feature fancy passing, clever ball handling, deceptive play, clever ruses and amusing routines and good basketball," said Haddock. "They have an international reputation for pleasing the paying fan with their team and individual performance."

MAKE IT TWO IN A ROW

Jay Cee Hoopsters Beat Juniors 53-45

Junior Chamber of Commerce basketball team in the City Basketball league, kicked around in the basement during the first round but that came to life last week with its first win, took another one Monday night for two in a row when they bopped Joe Lewis Juniors 53 to 45 on the high school gymnasium floor in an overtime game.

Bonnie Electric took a gift game when Mazzula forfeited their game.

LAURIE'S, the loop leaders, and Smoke Tree Stables were idle. Last night's games were moved up from the scheduled spot on Tuesday because of a high school game here tonight. There will be no league game Thursday night as the All-American Red Heads play a picked league All-Star team in a benefit game.

Dick Hill of the Jay Cees ran a wild Monday night for 26 points, dumping in 10 field goals and six free throws.

BOB CLINTON was high for the losers with 14 points.

The regulation game ended in a 45-45 deadlock but the Jaycees came through with eight points in the overtime period, six baskets and two gift shots.
